Dear Parents and Carers

Inspiring and Enhancing Writing Initiative (Part 1): Whole School Forensic Science Day October 19th

As a key priority this school year, we are focusing upon developing all pupils' enthusiasms for creative writing whilst at the same time ever enriching their skills as writers. Each term, we will provide a carefully chosen and extremely exciting shared event as a stimulus.

I am delighted to inform you that the first of these events is a Forensic Science day, run by a team of specialists from Lincolnshire. The staff from Pulse CSI Education, are highly experienced as actual Forensic Scientists and as educators within the primary sector. I have worked with the Pulse CSI team on three occasions previously and can confirm that they offer breath-taking and unforgettable learning opportunities which fully engross children and capture their imaginations.

Throughout the day, we will work in two Key Stage groups to develop a range of practical scientific skills and then become detectives, solving age appropriate mysteries, crimes and puzzles. Our shared experiences on October 19th will then become the basis for innovative and inspirational writing projects in all classes. A parent and carers event to celebrate progressive writing achievements is planned so that you too, can enjoy the impact.

Thankfully, the Forensic Science team have agreed to travel to North Rigton for this event – as it would have been totally impractical and hugely expensive to transport the whole school to Lincolnshire. In essence, this is a school trip with immensely valid Scientific and important Writing based learning outcomes, which comes to us without any need to transport our children.

We are asking parents for a voluntary contribution of £11.25 per head to enable our children to access this invaluable learning opportunity.

Yours sincerely
Jodi Storey
(Literacy Subject Leader)
